

CRIMINAL COURT LIST

ONE OF THE LONGEST LISTS FOR MANY YEARS.

Several Interesting Cases Involve False Pretense and Conspiracy Growing Out of Stock Sales.

August court will be next week. It is a court entirely given over to the criminal calendar, and usually more cases are on this calendar than any other sessions of the year. August court this year will be no exception to the rule, in fact there will be more cases on the calendar than there has been at any August court for a number of years. The cases will number over fifty and because the law permits of defendants pleading guilty and taking their punishment before the court to which they are returnable, a certain number of cases have already been determined that belong to the August sessions.

There are eight charges of false pretense against two stock salesmen, W. S. Marks and R. M. Wallach. The informations have been made by Charles C. Trostle, Mrs. Emma G. Trostle, Miss Margie E. Trostle, and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Frazier, and allege false pretense to cheat and defraud in the sale of Glass Casket Corporation stock by which the salesmen received $11,210 of money. Defendants have not been arrested.

There are several cases of false pretense to cheat and defraud in which C. J. Weaver and Edgar W. Weaver are the prosecutors against William Schlein, who is under arrest and in jail. It is alleged that salesmen of the names Block and Krupp went to the home of Mr. Weaver to sell him stock in the Belmont Motors Corporation and when Mr. Weaver was unwilling to buy before talking with Mr. G. C. Gochneaur, president of the company, the salesman got in communication with the plant at Lewistown and represented he had G. C. Gochneaur at the other end of the line, who vouched for the salesmen and that anything they represented was absolutely right. Mr. G. C. Gochneaur at the hearing testified that he lived at Harrisburg and had not been at the plant at Lewistown on June 26 to have the conversation alleged and Miss Dorothy Wertz, the stenographer in the Lewistown plant, identified William Schlein as coming into the office on June 26 to take charge of the telephone during the drive for stock sales.

Another case against William Schlein has been preferred by E. B. Swope, of Fairfield, who charged him with false pretense and conspiracy to cheat and defraud in the sale to him of one thousand shares of the Sure Foot Heel and Rubber Company for $3000. He testified of calling Mr. Cash upon the phone to get assurances and in place talked with Schlein who said he was the secretary of Mr. Cash. Miss Ruth Naylor, the stenographer in the office, heard Schlein say he was the secretary and Mr. Cash testified he had no secretary. Schlein being in the office in charge of the salesman of the stock of the company.

Albert Moore, of Fairfield, was the prosecutor in another case against Schlein involving the sale to him of no shares of the Sure Foot Heel and Rubber Co. and the taking from him shares of stock in two other companies alleged to be worth $1800.

In the cases of E. B. Swope Justice J. L. Hill held Wm. Schlein in $3500 bail for his appearance at court, and in the Weaver case in $5000 bail for his appearance. The hearing in the Moore charge was not concluded.

The cases in the August term already disposed of are the following:

Com. vs. Ralph Sherman, charge fornication and bastardy, prosecutrix Florence River.

The murder case will occupy very much of the time of the court at the August court. Sixty petit jurors have been summoned and in charges of the kind the selecting of a jury is a slow proceeding. It is a case that has attracted public attention and will be watched and followed by many of our people.

Chemical Engine Drive.

With over $3000 in sight it is believed the drive for the new chemical engine will be over the top by the 31st, and without the necessity of any house to house canvass. It has been an outpouring of the good will of our people to help those who fight our fires to better apparatus and equipment. The backing given by our people to this cause has given much encouragement to the committee in charge of the drive and to the firemen.

DEATH OF SAMUEL BUSHMAN

FROM ERRAND BOY TO PRESIDENT OF 1ST NATIONAL BANK.

John Inglebert, Aged Veteran, of Hunterstown, Answers Last Roll Call.

Samuel Milton Bushman, one of the outstanding characters of this community, who went into his bank as an errand boy and became president of the First National Bank of Gettysburg, who traveled around the globe, visiting many countries, who became a member of the Masonic Lodge of this place, taking all the degrees, becoming a Knight Templar and a Shriner of the Harrisburg Temple, passed away at his home on Baltimore street Monday afternoon at the age of 74 years, 11 months and 25 days. Mr. Bushman had a paralytic stroke in December 1920, and had been confined to his bed since that time.

Mr. Bushman was born in Gettysburg in a house on Baltimore street, not far from his residence, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Bushman. At the age of twelve he entered the Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Institution of Adams county as an errand boy. George Arnold was the cashier of the bank and then George and John Trone largely interested in the bank. When this institution was chartered under the National Bank Act in 1864 as The First National Bank of Gettysburg, Mr. Bushman had become a teller in the bank, and when Major Robert Bell resigned as cashier Mr. Bushman became the cashier and for many years the finances of this institution were dominated by Mr. Bushman. His aim was to accommodate the many small money wants at home rather than make large out of town loans and many a time he has pointed to large bundles of small notes representing loans. At the death of David G. Minter, president of the institution, Mr. Bushman became its president and held the position for many years until by reason of his health he retired, becoming chairman of the Board of Directors, which position he held until confined to his bed. By reason of his illness it became necessary recently to have the First National Bank appointed his guardian.

Late in life he became an extensive traveler, making one tour of the globe and making frequent trips on this continent, having visited the far west, Mexico and other points.

Years ago Mr. Bushman became interested in old china and had a very large collection at his home.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock, the services being in charge of Rev. T. C. Billheimer, D.D. The Masonic services were conducted at the grave by members of the Good Samaritan Lodge No. 330 F. and A. M., of Gettysburg.

He leaves three brothers, Joseph Bushman and William Bushman, of this place; John Bushman, of Mount Washington, near Baltimore, the father of Francis N. Cora Rowe, Miss Bessie Hoke, of Emmitsburg, and Mrs. J. Ellis Musselman, of Gettysburg, and two brothers, Joseph E. Hoke and Charles Hoke, of Emmitsburg.

Englebert, Mrs. Annie King, Hunterstown; Miss Minnie Englebert and Mrs. Martin Herman, of Gettysburg. The funeral was Monday afternoon, services in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Hunterstown by Rev. Mr. Martin, of York Springs, and interment was in the National Cemetery at Gettysburg.

Mrs. Anna Louise Newman, widow of the late Amos W. Newman, died at her home in Franklin township on Tuesday evening aged 80 years, 1 month and 2 days. She was a native of Greenville, Franklin county but her entire married life was passed in this county, part of the time at the home place along the Lincoln Highway near top of the mountain and for awhile they lived in Gettysburg while Mr. Newman conducted the Washington Hotel. Mrs. Newman was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Corwell. On Friday the funeral was held with services by Unique Party and Bridge Luncheon Were Means of Announcing.

The engagement of Miss Ruth Meals, Carlisle street, and Ludwig C. Mortensen, of New York City, was announced at a party given by Miss Meals to a number of her club sisters, members of the Acorn Club of town last Friday evening. An attractive arrangement of gold and green was carried out in the decorations of the Meals home, marigolds, goldenrod and fern being used in profusion.

The news of the engagement was told in a very unique manner. A large paper bag was brought before the guests, and when it was untied out walked a cat with the engagement ring tied to a ribbon about its neck. "The cat being out of the bag" the happy news was then formally announced on acorn shaped cards distributed by a diminutive letter-carrier impersonated by little Miss Virginia Storrick of Lincoln avenue.

Miss Meals is the only daughter of John W. Meals, and is well known here, having a prominent part in the many activities undertaken by the Acorn Club for community betterment. PRESIDENTIAL MUDDLING.

The New York World is well within the facts when it says, in reference to the railroad strike, that President Harding "has tried to settle the strike by going over the head of the Labor Board, by upholding the Labor Board by surrendering to the executives, by surrendering to the men and by benevolent offers to compromise with everybody."

It is largely due to this Presidential muddling that the strike situation is now so badly complicated. The Government has a special branch of the Railroad Labor Board, that was created to handle the differences that arise between the companies and their employees, and it was very ill-advised in Mr. Harding to go over the heads of this body by his offers of mediation. This has practically robbed it of its opportunity for usefulness and has brought in an element of politics that should have been rigorously excluded. In trying to please everybody the President has pleased nobody and has added new difficulties to an already embarrassing situation.

It would have been far better if instead of deferring first to the railroad executives and then to the strikers' representatives, Mr. Harding had insisted that the two sides attempt to settle their troubles in amicable conference, with the Railroad Board acting as a friendly intermediary and seeking to smooth away the points of friction. This was the aim of Congress in passing the law creating the Board. Through ill-timed Presidential interference it now stands largely discredited, with much of its authority and prestige eliminated.

MAKING DEMOCRATIC VOTES.

The performance of the U. S. Senate last Saturday passing a tariff bill and sending same to conference is heralded as a tragic comedy entitled "Robbing the Consumer."

From first to last the Republicans have neglected nothing that could bring disaster upon their party. They have deliberately and ostentatiously plundered the mass of the people. The people will return their thanks in November. How cheering it must be to Mr. McComber and his fellow-seekers to read Republican appreciation of their work such as this testimonial from The Boston Transcript, so long so close to the gracious bosom of Henry Cabot Lodge:

"It would be hard for Congress to grant a worse tariff than that to be sent to conference by the Senate this week. It ought to be easy to purge the bill of some of its more flagrant selfishness in the wake of the rebuke which we have not believe the party in power will receive at the polls next November."

What economic, what political genius must have been spent in the concoction of a tariff that stirs in Republicans a burning desire for Republican defeat!

FARM TOPICS

Wheat.

The average Pennsylvania farmer plants his wheat a week to ten days too early in order to gain the greatest protection from injury by Hessian Fly. A schedule has been prepared showing the proper planting dates for the various sections of the State. For Adams county the most advantageous time to plant wheat in order to escape serious Hessian Fly injury is from September 29 to October 9. Farmers who desire information on the special care to be taken in preparing the seed bed, or additional facts in regard to the time and method of planting, should call at Adams County Farm Bureau Office and consult the county agent.

Late Summer Forage for Sows.

In traveling over the State this time of year, specialists in the Animal Husbandry Extension Department at State College, find that a large number of brood sows are confined to dry lots, or even very small board pens. These conditions are conducive to excessive fattiness which lowers the vitality of the embryo litter and causes the sow to become clumsy and sluggish. In practically 100 per cent of these cases, one will find a good clover field or wheat stubble with a good growth of young clover on the farm. A temporary fence around part of such fields would be a paradise to the sow that has been confined.

The growing shoats can also be turned on such pasture. This run will provide an abundance of green food for shoats and brood sows alike, will tend to keep the digestive tract open and aids materially in the health of the individual. Exercise for the sow is absolutely essential to the production of a strong, healthy, vigorous litter of pigs at farrowing time. By feeding a limited amount of grain in the pasture, the sow is forced to take some exercise. It should also be remembered that a good supply of clear, fresh water should be available. If there is no natural shade in these fields, a temporary shelter from the heat of the sun should be constructed.

Sheep.

The season is near at hand when Adams county sheep men will find it necessary to choose a ram for next year's service. This particular phase of flock management is usually postponed until the very last minute, and then it becomes necessary for the flock owner to take whatever he can get. He may be lucky enough to get a real good sire, but more often, the best he can do is to purchase a grade or scrub substitute for the pure bred ram that he might have had.

The farmer who has an average sized flock can no more afford to use a scrub or a grade ram in service to his ewes, than can the extensive sheep raiser. Mr. W. B. Connell, Sheep Extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College, claims that a good pure bred ram will pay for himself in one year. When the flock is small, say from 12 to 20 ewes, a good strong lamb can be used. It is imperative, however, that the selection made while there are plenty of good rams available. Assistant County Agent Shenk will be glad to assist any flock owner who is in the market for a good pure bred sire.

Toll-gates Getting Scarce.

All turnpikes and toll-gates west of Lancaster have been put out of commission by being acquired by the State. There remain about 25 toll roads in south-eastern part of State, a number in Lancaster county, and it is said an appropriation by the next Legislature will end the remaining toll roads. The first toll road to be taken by the State was the Chambersburg pike leading to Gettysburg, in 1913.

Since April 2, 1914, the State Highway Department has helped buy 515 miles of toll road in seventy-one stretches. The longest toll road taken was the twenty-mile road between Waynesboro and Mercersburg. The last toll road taken in the Harrisburg district was the Berks and Dauphin, which had the greater part of the fifty miles between the State capital and Reading, mainly in Lebanon county.

Among the turnpikes freed were: Chambersburg and Bedford, Fulton county, 18.70 miles; Gettysburg and Petersburg, Adams county, 21.30 miles; Chambersburg Turnpike, Adams county, 5 miles; Chambersburg and Bedford, Franklin county, 17.90 miles; Harrisburg and Carlisle, Franklin county, 9.07 miles; Chambersburg turnpike, Franklin county, 10.50 miles; Lancaster, Elizabethtown and Middletown, Lancaster county, 15.20 miles; Lancaster and Williamsport, Lancaster county, 10.50 miles; York and Gettysburg, York county, 13.40 miles; York and Gettysburg, Adams county, 2.20 miles; York and Maryland line, York county, 14.60 miles; Susquehanna and York Borough, York county, 7.20 miles; York and Liverpool, York county, 5.10 miles; York and Liverpool, York county, 5.10 miles; Lancaster and Manheim, Lancaster county, 9.20 miles; Lancaster and Susquehanna, Lancaster county, 8.50 miles; Columbia and Marietta, Lancaster county, 2.72 miles; Marietta and Maytown, Lancaster county, 1.98 miles; York and Chanceford, York county, 4.37 miles; Hanover and Maryland line, York county, 6.30 miles; East Berlin and Hanover, Adams county, 5.80 miles; East Berlin and Hanover, York county, 2.70 miles; Hanover and Littlestown, Adams county, .68 miles; Hanover and Littlestown, York county, 5.46 miles; McSherrystown and Hanover, Adams county, 1.70 miles; McSherrystown and Hanover, York county, .23 miles.

Pennsylvania World War Memorials

George H. Stewart, Jr., of Shippenburg, a member of the commission sent to France by the State of Pennsylvania to select sites for monuments to Pennsylvania troops has given out the following interesting statement of the work done by the commission:

The commission appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania, to investigate the battlefields of France and Belgium with a view to select sites for monuments on those battlefields where Pennsylvania troops fought, returned from Europe a few days ago. The commission, which arrived in France early in June, consulted various agencies of the French and Belgium Governments relative to its work, and every assistance possible was rendered. Our own Embassies in Paris and Brussels extended every help. Many courtesies were also received from the Headquarters of the American Forces in Germany, located at Coblenz. After consulting with interested authorities, it was decided to make a thorough study of the entire Western Front, both on account of extensive service of Pennsylvania troops in France and Belgium, and also to determine what other countries and organizations had done and were doing in the way of selecting sites for monuments, as well as to learn what types of memorials had been erected, or were contemplated. The Governments of both France and Belgium are taking the deepest interest in projects of this character, and have certain departments and bureaus for handling questions of this kind. For example, in France, final approval of all such memorials rests with the Beaux-Arts Commission and the Department of Public Instruction, permission first having to be obtained from the Commune and Municipal authorities. This to a large extent is also true in Belgium. Although these necessary steps require considerable time, they are justified in order to obtain the desired results. In this connection, the services of Captain Eugene Le Roch, detailed to the Commission by the French War Department, were of great value. The Commission was impressed by the work that has already been done along this line by the Allied Governments and Organizations, as well as by the individual Communes and Municipalities. Nearly every city or town in France and Belgium has already erected or planned to erect some sort of a memorial to her native sons. These vary in style from simple markers to beautiful elaborate memorials. They are not only things of beauty, but a constant inspiration and reminder of the sacrifices made in the Great War.

As far as the United States is concerned, considerable work has already been accomplished. The Federal Government is studying the question of marking the American Lines from an historical point of view, while several States, notably Massachusetts, Tennessee and Missouri, are making plans similar to those of Pennsylvania. In fact, the plans of Massachusetts are quite well matured, while representatives from Tennessee were in France at the same time as the Pennsylvania Commission.

After making the general survey of the situation, the Commission made detailed studies of the battlefields where Pennsylvania troops took a prominent part, especially the Offensive between the Marne and the Vesle Rivers, in the Meuse-Argonne, and on the Belgian Front.

Inspection of Food Handlers at Fairs

Orders are issued by the State Health Department through the Division of Restaurant Hygiene, to have all persons engaged in the preparation or handling of food at county fairs undergo the required physical examination and furnish to health officers certificate stating they are free from the diseases mentioned in Act of Assembly No. 109, part of which reads as follows:

"Every person before operating or being permitted to work at a public eating or drinking place shall obtain a certificate from a reputable registered doctor of medicine, certifying that such person is free from trachoma, active tuberculosis of the lungs, open skin tuberculosis, syphilis, gonorrhea, open external cancer or barber's itch and are not typhoid carriers. These certificates must be filed with the proper health authorities within 5 days of date of examination and are valid for a period of 6 months, but may be revoked at any time prior to this if the condition of such person warrants it."

Forms 901, for this purpose, will be forwarded from the Department of Health to the secretary of each Fair ten days before the opening, and can be secured from him when application is made to conduct refreshment stands. Food handlers may also make application direct to the Department for forms 901. This will save time and trouble as excuses will not be accepted by the Health Officer when inspection is made. A Health Officer has been assigned to each Fair to collect these certificates and see that other health laws are being obeyed.

Seventy-two Fairs, including 2301 refreshment stands were covered by the inspectors last summer, and this year 82 will be visited. Several persons were refused certificates and a few stands closed, but on the whole splendid co-operation was given by the Fair officials and the food handlers themselves. Mr. Delaney says the public could help in securing their own protection against disease by refusing to patronize stands that are not clean and where proper methods of washing dishes are not used.

FUTURE POWER FOR THE FARM

Wind and Electricity to Serve the Farmer.

Predictions that electricity will soon be the only form of power used both in industry and in homes are often met with the objection that the cost of fuel in producing it would be too great in cases where cheaper forms of power could be used. Farmers, who are accustomed to the rapid changes in the type of their machinery and who because of the advance made in these implements in the last few years, have been experimenting with wind power for the production of electricity, have met with considerable success.

One great objection to electrification, it has been found, is that in sections where most heat and power is needed coal must be used to make electricity. Coal production it is pointed out is uncertain, troubled by strikes and heavy transportation charges which makes it advisable to seek other sources of power. Wind and water are suggested by the farmers. Water is already being used extensively for producing electricity. Sufficient water power is not always available where it might be desired to produce electricity.

Already wind power is successfully being used to make electricity for farm use, according to the Farm Journal, which tells how a single wind generator produces sufficient current for fifty or more lights, washing machine, electric iron, toaster, heater and all the household conveniences, milking machine, cream separator, fanning mill, grindstone, lathe and other power machinery.

In times of good wind pressure, storage batteries are charged with electricity which furnish "canned juice" during the periods of calm. The longest calm in the records of the United States Weather Bureau was only ten days, so there is no difficulty in canning enough power to last between breezes. As for too much wind, automatic controls regulate and speed of the generator within 2 or 3 per cent. of normal in the fiercest gales or gentlest zephyrs.

Numerous successful installations of wind generators on farms and in villages prove the practicability of small wind-driven power plants. With nature thus furnishing the power free, every farm should have all the electrical conveniences of the cities. Undoubtedly American ingenuity will develop more powerful plants, possibly plants of sufficient power to produce very cheaply the quantity of electricity needed in the cities, eliminating entirely the use of coal, with its smoke and ashes and subjection to conflicts between labor and capital.

Republican Pipe Dreams of Economy

All the big headlines appearing in newspapers showing the great savings made by the budget system under the Harding administration, said Senator Overman, of North Carolina, ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations, in a speech in the United States Senate last week, are nothing but a camouflage and pipe dreams, and there is nothing in it, as the figures show. The economies claimed are imaginary and not borne out by the figures on the treasury books. To show the falsity of the Republican claim of economy Senator Overman compared appropriations under the Wilson administration three years before the war and under the Harding administration three years after the war under the budget system, the years compared being 1915 and the budget for 1923. In his figures he eliminated all items for 1923 growing out of the war and found the following to be the true figures.

Under the head of executive and other independent offices, appropriations under the Harding Administration for 1923, $23,000,000, as compared with $9,000,000 in 1915 under the Wilson Administration, making a difference in favor of the Wilson Administration of $14,000,000.

Under the head of State Department for 1923 $10,000,000, as compared with $6,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $4,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the Treasury Department for 1923 $199,000,000, as compared with $140,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $59,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the War Department for 1923 $332,000,000, as compared with $181,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $151,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the Navy Department for 1923, $297,000,000, as compared with $148,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $149,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the Interior Department for 1923, $325,000,000, as compared with $211,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $114,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the Agricultural Department for 1923, $290,000,000, as compared with $200,000,000 in 1915 making a difference of $90,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the Department of Commerce for 1923, $187,000,000, as compared with $117,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $70,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the Department of Labor for 1923, $6,000,000, as compared with $3,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $3,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the Department of Justice for 1923, $17,000,000, as compared with $10,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $7,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

Under the District of Columbia, for 1923, $24,000,000, as compared with $13,000,000 in 1915, making a difference of $11,000,000 in favor of the Wilson Administration.

These figures Senator Overman said, showed a grand total, after deducting all the war expenses and only showing the appropriations for the legitimate expenses of the Government for 1923 of $1,329,000,000, as compared with $793,000,000 for 1915, under the Wilson Administration, making a decrease in favor of the Wilson Administration of $536,000,000.
